RACING NOTES AND TURF GOSSIP

Visiting Jockeys; Herod And The Derby;
Some Good "Aussies;" Double
Chance For Valleys

(BY "MORNING DEW")

There has been quite a lot of discussion recently as to what jockeys from the North will be visiting Hong Kong for the Annual Race Meeting. I am informed by the Jockey Club that so far only four visitors have been notified by owners, and of these three are already here, these being Mr. D. S. Li, who needs no introduction from me, Mr. B. L. Tao of Shanghai and Mr. P. K. T. Ho of Hankow. Mr. F. Marshall, who will be riding for Mr. and Mrs. Pearce's ponies, is due next week, I hear.

Mr. P. K. T. Ho of Hankow comes here with a good record up North and I am sure that he will account for some of the more important races during the coming meeting. He will be riding for the Hau Un-stable and will, at the same time look after the interests of some of the smaller Chinese owners, whose subs appear to be quite good. Amongst his mounts will be Lucky Strike, one of the best of this year's sub-griffins.

Mr. B. L. Tao will ride for Mr. Li Tao Fong. His record in Shanghai last year was very good, though the exact figures have not reached Hong Kong. The Shanghai Racing Record for 1933, however, shows Mr. Tao with 31 wins, 32 seconds and 41 third places. He was unplaced on 255 occasions. In 1932, he had only 8 wins, with 12 seconds and 6 thirds and 110 unplaced.

Chang Not Coming

Some time ago, I stated, in these columns that Mr. Y. S. Chang will be coming down to ride for Mr. Li Shu Pang. I hear now that he is not coming down at all. The stable has two very good candidates in Soldier of Britain and Racing Boy. The latter will probably go to the post a warm favourite for the Garrison Cup. There is a rumour that Mr. S. Y. Sun, who rode for Mr. Li last year will come down to ride these candidates again, but of this also, confirmation is lacking.

While I am on rumours, I might add that there is repeated talk that Mr. C. Encarnacao will be here during the Annual Meeting. Mr. Encarnacao rode President Hall to victory in 1929 and it will be a strange co-incidence if he were to ride Pacific Hall to victory this year.

Herod
Herod's magnificent gallop on Saturday has made him a warm favourite for the Derby and I am sure he will be much in demand in the selling sweeps. Herod and Pacific Hall are about the pick of this year's griffins, the more so since I am told that Soldier of Honour will be kept for next season. If the decision to keep Soldier of Honour for 1936 is definite, there will be a good race between Herod and Pacific Hall, because both can finish well and much will depend on the way the earlier part of the race is run. Personally, I favour the chances of Herod at the moment, though in saying so, I do not want to imply that Pacific Hall will not be a match for him!

Many racegoers, remembering the triumphant record of the Dunbar stable in recent years cannot shake off the feeling that in Pontiac Bay and Mistake Bay, as well as in Mrs. Dunbar's Sacajawea, they have the Derby winner. With Mr. Frost riding for this stable, the "pink and green hoops" will be as prominent at the 1935 meeting as they have been in all past meetings for some years, but I can hardly see the stable's colours passing the post, first in the Derby.

Some Sprinters

One of the best gallopers during the past fortnight was that of Rose Queen, one of Mr. Yu Tong Sen's griffins. This pony and Diogenes are a very good pair for short distances, and the same is true of Dr. Macdonald's Bonny Dundee and Messrs. Lewis and Tinson's Estray. Their other candidate, Estover, is being prepared for the longer distances, but does not seem to finish well. Mersey and Popular Star are other good griffins to watch, while needless to add, Trowbridge will have plenty to say in all griffins' events at the meeting.

Shooting Star

The question as to which is the best Australian is still occupying the minds of those who are trying to gauge form from training times. We have all heard for some time that the best three are Streamline, Derby Day and Got That. I think some of the critics have changed their opinions, for Shooting Star is rapidly getting into shape and with Mr. D. S. Li down here, his pony should be ready for racing by the middle of February. He is a very impressive galloper, a week-end and from his looks, an outstanding prospect. With the stable's proverbial luck in Australian subs, it might quite easily turn out that they have drawn the best Australian pony again.

Vixen, Tor and The Maori are two others which will be sure to attract attention, since they went over a mile in exceptionally fast times on Saturday last and both finished the last half mile in 55.4 seconds. Mrs. Stephan Lam's Fairy and Mr. Why's Goldsmith are two nice movers who will not be ashamed in the Sydney Maiden Stakes, especially if the luck of the draw puts them away from the favourites. The Bean Goose, belonging to Messrs. Hall and Shenton is also a good one.

The Valleys

With fifty nine entries in the Valleys, the task of trying to follow the progress of the subs is no simple one, but with Double Chance in such good trim, it is safe to say that this pony will not be far away even if he does not win. Last year, it will be recalled, Classic Hall started a hot favourite for the race, but was beaten on the post by Cavalcade. Is there anything in this year's lot that will do the same with Double Chance? Lucky Strike, Tin Ho, The Cheekah and High Principle are some of those to bear a mind, when looking for an outsider to beat the favourite in the Valleys.

Racing Record

The Hong Kong Jockey Club's racing record for 1934 is just to hand. The volume provides results of the racing for the year, the records of each pony, the results according to distance and the records of the jockeys. From this publication it will be seen that the Derby winner last season won $5,561 in stakes, accounting for three races only and being unplaced in two others. The next best total for 1934 griffins is shown by Soldier of Britain who has earned $5,350 for his owner winning six races during the year and getting a second and two third places. He was twice unplaced. To date, Diana Bay has won $28,104 in stakes, while Liberty Bay has collected $22,820. The latter was only started five times in 1934. Trenbridge has won $18,489 in two years.

Derby Sweep

To date 78,000 tickets in the Jockey Club's 1st Derby Sweep have been taken up and it looks very much as if by the Annual Meeting more than 100,000 tickets will be sold.

ART TREASURES FOR NATION

The Eumorfopoulos Collection

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 29. The British Museum and the Victoria and Albert Museum have combined to buy for the nation, at the price of £100,000, the celebrated Eumorfopoulos collection of Chinese and Far Eastern art.

The price paid exceeds that of any previous purchase by either museum, apart from last year's adventure in the purchase of the Sinai Codex of the Bible, which was secured at the same figure of £100,000.

This time nearly half the sum required is in hand thanks to generous donations from Sir Percival David, the National Art Collections Fund, the Universities China Committee, and the funds of the two museums. An appeal is being made for contributions from members of the public who appreciate the beauty and historical importance of oriental art.

They should be sent to the directors of either museum or to the National Art Collections Fund. A few years ago the two museums inherited jointly the substantial "Valentin Bequest" from which a sum running well into five figures can be assigned to this single important purchase.

The Eumorfopoulos collection formed at his Chelsea home by Mr. George Eumorfopoulos, a British-born member of the Greek merchant firm of Ralli Bros., is probably the largest of its kind. It contains 1,050 pieces of porcelain and pottery and roughly the same number of ancient bronzes.

It includes sculptures in stone and wood, jades, gold, silver, glass, lacquer and paintings. Many of the individual works of art are remarkable for their rarity, and whole groups of objects are represented of which the national collections have hitherto contained only inferior specimens or none at all.

Mr. Eumorfopoulos, who is 71, has been collecting for some thirty years. He has gathered his treasures, not in the sale-room, but mainly from people who imported them directly from China. The value of the collection if put up to auction would certainly greatly exceed the price to be paid on behalf of the nation.

Mr. Eumorfopoulos put it last night at "several times the price at which it is being acquired," and added that it would be difficult to put a value on some of the pieces.

Parting "A Great Grief" "Various circumstances" have forced me to part with the collection," he said. "The parting is a great grief to me."

For the present no permanent division of the collection will be made. The sculptures will all go temporarily to South Kensington, and the other objects are already being transported to and unpacked in the British Museum. The most important piece of Chinese sculpture in the collection is already on loan to the Victoria and Albert Museum, where it may be seen.

Other objects selected are likely to be on view there in the coming months. The bulk of the collection, however, will not be on view until the opening of the Chinese Art Exhibition which is to be held at Burlington House next winter. Ultimately certain specimens may be lent to the leading provincial museums.

Rare And Beautiful Specimens Mr. R. L. Hobson, Keeper of Oriental Antiquities at the British Museum, who himself catalogued the ceramic portions of the collection, was unpacking the first crates yesterday.

"The collection," he told me, "embraces the development of Chinese art from an aesthetic point of view, and the objects are not merely rare but often outstandingly beautiful. To take an instance there are half a dozen first rate bronzes of the Chou period (1200 B.C.-250 B.C.). Hitherto we have had in the museum only one bronze of any size this period."

Further, the collection includes the biggest known Chou jades and the finest collection in existence of Han (200 B.C.-220 A.D.) and Tang (7th-9th centuries A.D.) pottery. The Sung (10th-13th centuries) and Ming (14th-17th centuries) pottery is scarcely less remarkable.

"The later stuff, which followed Ming we are not taking, because here we are sufficiently represented," added Mr. Hobson.

"The 30 sculptures in the collection mostly belong to the period between Han and Tang, and there are some fine paintings, including two outstanding ones—a river scene by Ma Yuan and a bird on a branch from an album. Wall paintings are included, but there is nothing comparable to the great wall painting at the end of the King Edward VII. gallery, which we owe to the generosity of Mr. Eumorfopoulos himself, through the National Art Collections Fund."

FRANCE'S OLD NOBILITY

Prominent Service To Country

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 29. The Comte De Chambrun, the French Ambassador in Rome, on whom falls a great deal of the task of getting over the hitch which has held up the signature of the Security Pact for Austria, comes of one of the oldest families in France. He is a great-grandson of La Fayette.

The old French nobility was by no means extinguished by the Revolution. Its remnants came back and started life again in their chateaux and Paris mansions.

In the Rue de Lille, the Rue de Varennes, the Rue de l'Université in the aristocratic Faubourg St. Germain, they are still to be found.

They are very exclusive. Napoleon III. and his parvenu aristocracy they never noticed at all.

Prominent in the Services To-day they are very prominent in the higher ranks of diplomacy, the army and the navy.

Thus there are de Chambrun, de Baumarchais, Peretti della Rocca, and de St. Aulaire de Fleury in the French Foreign Office list. The war made us familiar with such great names as de Castelnau, Franchet d'Esperey, and d'Amade.

The Navy in particular, which Waldeck-Rousseau described as "honeycombed with reaction," is largely officered by aristocrats. A Boué de Lapeyrière was its Commander-in-Chief during the war.

VOYAGE TO NEW GUINEA

Yachtsmen Set Out From Singapore

Singapore, Jan. 19.

To-day three American and English adventurers start on a voyage in a Singapore yacht to unfrequented spots in Netherlands India and in New Guinea.

A Free Press reporter who endeavoured to get a few details was told that the trip was "private and confidential" but inquiries revealed that the probable destination of the yacht is the south-west coast of New Guinea which is out of the usual run of trading steamers.

The adventurers are Mr. Halstead Lindsley, of New York, a wealthy American who is financing the trip, Mr. W. H. Rogers, and Lieut. Col. C. H. Barber, a member of the Indian Medical Service who is on leave.

They left London just over a week ago by Imperial Airways, and arrived here on Monday.

The yacht they are sailing in is the White Swan which belongs to Mr. Merton Brown, the well-known yachtsman, and they will tour Java, Bali, Koepang, Banda, the West Celebes, New Guinea, Macassar, and Borneo before returning to Singapore. It is expected, in three months time.

The yacht will be captained by a Malay and will have a crew of eight.

First from Singapore

It is the first yachting trip from Singapore undertaken by a party from New York.

The White Swan, a splendid sea boat (before leaving Brisbane for Singapore she made a long cruise round the Solomon Islands, and she covered the 4,000 miles between the Australian port and here in 35 days, nearly all the way being under canvas), has been carefully prepared for this trip, and is at present lying at Changi.

Built in 1927, the yacht possesses a luxurious interior. Her saloon is finished with polished maple and is roomy. The dining saloon seats six people.

ches in height, muscular, athletic. He rarely wears a uniform. He joined the British South African Mounted Police in Rhodesia in 1908, and was leading his men at twenty-one.

Fought in Africa In the war he fought in German East Africa and in 1919 became Administrative Magistrate to Tanganyika.

He returned to England as Chief Constable of Chesterfield in 1923, and became Chief Constable of East

THE AUTOGIRO IN WAR

Challenge To Kite Balloons

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, January 12. An investigation is being conducted by the Army and Air Force authorities into the military value of the autogiro or rotating wing aircraft, writes the Aeronautical Correspondent of the Morning Post.

The investigation is in two parts—that which seeks to estimate the scope of this type of machine for certain kinds of Army co-operation work and that which seeks to estimate its scope for aerial fighting.

The major tests in the Army co-operation work will be made during the next training season, in the summer of 1935, when R.A.F. squadrons will take part in special manoeuvres; while the fighting tests will be begun with existing types of machine and may lead to the ordering by the Air Ministry of an experimental military autogiro of novel design.

Substitute Kite Balloon It is not permissible to give details of the kind of machine visualised by Air Force officers as a rotating wing, lighter; but it may be mentioned that Senor de la Cierva, the inventor of the autogiro, worked out many years ago a design for an autogiro with a maximum speed of more than 300 miles an hour and a landing speed about the same as that of existing military aeroplanes.

In the Army co-operation field the autogiro has been proposed as a substitute for the kite balloon. The kite balloon possesses certain advantages for gun-spotting over all types of heavier-than-air craft, including both rotating wing machines and fixed wing machines of conventional pattern, and it is favoured by some gunnery officers.

Only An Adjunct On the other hand, its clumsiness in the field and its vulnerability to the modern high-speed fighter plane are such that the handler and more nimble autogiro is finding many supporters.

Already the autogiro has been used for various forms of liaison with ground forces and also for intercommunication of the transport of Army commanders and staff officers.

I am able to state that the autogiro is not regarded in any way as a replacement for orthodox aircraft in Army co-operation squadrons, but as an adjunct to them, much as the kite balloon is at present.

The six autogiros which were delivered at the end of August to the School of Army Co-operation at Old Sarum have already done a good deal of flying, but the ending of the Army's collective training season in September prevented extended trials from being undertaken.

IN FIVE LANGUAGES

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 12. Mr. John de la Vilette, who has organised the Burlington House Exhibition of Art in Industry, is clearly a man of unusual eloquence.

At a luncheon held in the Royal Academy to welcome critics from all over the world, he made every one at home by beginning in English, continuing in French, and then in rapid transition explaining the objects of the exhibition in German and equally idiomatic Dutch and Swedish.

Sir Edwin Lutyens gleefully described one of the pieces of textile draped over a plain wooden stand as "a portrait of somebody's wife from one of the old Academy shows."

Sir Edwin, who has been advisory architect to the whole exhibition, is particularly gratified at the compliments he has received for designing a small modern library bay with a mirror which seems to double its size.

It is a real Lutyens design. It happens, however, to be by his son, Mr. Robert Lutyens.

Riding of Yorkshire in 1925, and in 1928 went to Sheffield. He speaks half a dozen African languages. His favourite pastime is big-game hunting.

He is the only Sillitoe in Scotland. He has £1500, rising to £2,000 a year in Glasgow. He lives quietly at Kilmacoll, outside the city, with his wife and children—two girls and a boy.

But he has a bed in his office.

The only Cigarettes which have never given me a sore throat!

The original letter is held at Arcaid Works and its authenticity can be verified.

"I feel I must write and tell you that I think CRAVEN 'A' are the most delightful Cigarettes I've ever smoked. I have tried all others but find your Cigarettes are the only ones which have never given me a sore throat. They are indeed everything you say about them in your advertisements."

MAN WHO MAY SUCCEED LORD TRENCHARD

Swept Gangs From Two Cities

London.

A Blue-eyed, rock-jawed man sits at a glass-topped desk in a cosy paneled room.

There is a twinkle in his eye. His crisp, vigorous voice is foreign to his surroundings—for the room is the Chief Constable's office at the Glasgow police headquarters, and Percy Joseph Sillitoe is English.

It is rumoured that Captain Sillitoe will succeed Lord Trenchard at Scotland Yard.

What kind of man is he? What are his qualifications?

Hunted Gangsters He is forty-six. Eight years ago he was unknown. To-day he is one of the world's foremost police authorities, whose advice has been sought even by Chicago.

He has risen to fame by tackling two of the worst jobs a police chief could have.

He was appointed Chief Constable of Sheffield in 1926, when the city was terrorised by gangs and razor attacks were common.

Sillitoe went after the gangsters, hunted them down like rats, gave no mercy.

Within twelve months the gangsters were driven from Sheffield. The city was safe for its citizens again.

Yet Sillitoe found time to sharpen his force by introducing trouser presses for the policemen.

Glasgow in 1931 was a city of unrest. Unemployment was at its peak. Dole demonstrations, 50,000 strong, were held, and caused trouble. Religious warfare raged in the east end.

Razor-slashing youths bullied shop-keepers.

No Serious Crime

The Sillitoe strong arm came into action. The demonstrations were disciplined so that one night 100,000 men marched through the city in orderly procession, and traffic was hardly held up.

Sillitoe recognised that many of the gangster were victims of environment. He aided the movement that gave them social and sporting clubs to occupy their enforced idleness.

Sillitoe reorganised the force. He asked for suggestions.

The ideas of 2,000 men were compiled and every man whose plan was used received recognition.

Police men doing clerical work were put on a beat and girls brought in.

Sillitoe was born in Glasgow of Shropshire parents and educated at St. Paul's. He is six foot six, 170

THE PEOPLE'S TRIBUNE

A semi-monthly magazine dealing with the social, political and economic life of China and other Far Eastern countries.

Edited by T'ANG LEANG-LI

THE PEOPLE'S TRIBUNE aims at conveying accurate information and the correct interpretation thereof, at informing the foreign public what the Chinese people are thinking and doing, at explaining the significance of major political and other relevant social developments—conscious of its responsibilities, without fear or prejudice. Being China's most authoritative periodical of its kind, the articles are not only reproduced and commented upon by the various English-language publications in Shanghai and elsewhere in China, but also translated into French, German, Malay, Dutch, and other languages throughout the world, and occasionally cabled over in full to Europe and America.

THE B. B. C. STUDIO
Constructional Difficulties

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 12.

Last week we published the first article on the B.B.C.'s latest studio—the largest in Great Britain—dealing with the general arrangement. This week, the concluding article tells of the constructional difficulties which had to be overcome in transforming a skating rink into a broadcasting studio.

The construction of the studio presented many interesting problems, chief amongst which was the provision of sufficient height for so large a room. It appeared at first sight that the existing steel trusses supporting the roof of the main building would unduly restrict the height of the studio in relation to its length and breadth, but the difficulty was overcome by encasing the girders and coffering the new ceiling between them.

The ceiling of the studio is accordingly suspended from new steel trusses, which are carried by steel stanchions built into the studio walls. These new trusses and stanchions have a total weight of some ninety tons. No part of the steelwork comes into contact with any of the existing building. Similarly, the walls of the studio, which are of solid brickwork 14 ins. in thickness, are completely free of the existing structure. The studio is entirely independent of the old structure and noise transmission and extraneous interference are reduced to a minimum.

The ceiling is old-fashioned in construction in that it is formed of wooden rafters with lath and plaster finish. The rafters are carried on steel purlins supported by the new trusses; and space between the rafters is plugged with sawdust and shavings. The whole of the area above the rafters is boarded.

Calculation showed that only a part of the studio needed to be treated acoustically to the extent being such as to dispense with acoustical treatment on the ceiling and to admit of a hard plaster dado provided.

Over the doors to the studio are large concrete baffles—again an engineering necessity. They mask the air-extract outlets of the ventilating system. Air enters the studio through two continuous slotted ducts in the ceiling. At the far end of the studio is a listening room, 33 ft. long and 13 ft. 8 ins. wide, with a double-glazed observation window to the studio.

Accommodation for Orchestra of 120
The studio is designed to accommodate an orchestra of 120 persons. A chorus of 300 persons can be accommodated; and there is provision for an audience of 112 people on the balcony. The studio is not, and will not be licensed for public performances.

At the listening-room end of the studio a solid "screen-wall" has been built to prevent sound from penetrating to such additional studios as may be built later in the vacant area beyond. This wall is suitably braced by steel, some forty tons of which were used for its construction and bracing. It is built of 14-in. brickwork to a height of 20 ft.; above that height 9-in. brick-work is carried right up to the glass roof, at one point some 60 ft. above floor-level.

A balanced system of supply and extract ventilation is provided for the studio, etc., and very great care has been taken to prevent the sound of fans, motors, etc., being transmitted to the studio through the ventilation ducts. Special sound-deadeners have been introduced into the ducts to eliminate such interference.

Studio Equipment

Four microphone circuits are provided for normal use in the studio, each circuit being provided with two sockets wired in parallel, so that the microphones can be used at either end of the studio; in addition, one emergency microphone circuit is installed, also with two sockets in parallel.

The wiring from all microphone points is brought to a central unit in the adjacent studio listening room, where suitable decoupling and/or amplifiers are provided.

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 12.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the first British Prime Minister to associate himself with the Gaelic movement, was the guest of the Elgin branch last month.

He said that he did not know the Gaelic, but he did know the spirit of the Gael, his music, his dancing, and the fine qualities of his love and the magnificent devotion of his faith.

"Civilization has its drawbacks," he continued, "as well as its advantages. One of its greatest drawbacks is that we dance odd dances to odd music, and we have forgotten fine, simple, divine harmonies like the 'herding song'."

FIRE-PROOF PAINT

Leningrad.

The State Chemical Plant here has completed the testing of a new fire-proof and water-proof paint. One of the two experimental small wooden huts covered with the new paint, had water turned on it from a fire hose under the pressure of five atmospheres. The paint withstood splendidly this test, lasting over an hour.

The other house was surrounded by shavings soaked in tar, kerosene oil, and other highly combustible liquids, but all attempts to burn the house were in vain. The window panes commenced to melt from the high temperature, while window transoms covered with the new paint withstood the fire. Only after one hour some parts of the house were slightly charred.

Styles

Hollywood continues to be well to the fore with the mid-winter fashions, and every social gathering sees a number of fascinating new models.

Clara Lou Sheridan, youthful Paramount player, looks charming in a dinner frock of black crepe with a rose lace top and square décolletage, and Toby Wing looks exceptionally pretty in a gown of pearl-grey velvet.

Lyda Roberti, featured in Paramount's COLLEGE RHYTHM, is wearing a formal beaded white chiffon with a voluminous train, and over this carries a long cape of pink velvet.

At a party the other day, Gertrude Michael, featured in Paramount's THE WITCHING HOUR and FATHER BROWN—DETECTIVE, was in black velvet trimmed in ermine and "highlighted" by a large corsage of orchids, and Genevieve Tobin, in KISS AND MAKE-UP, was resplendent in green and gold lame with a velvet Ascot of darker green.

Then, of course, there was Mae West, in an ermine wrap so enveloping that one could not see what gown she had chosen. But when she dropped it back over her chair, black and silver metal clasp again triumphed, this time in a dinner gown with a draped neckline.

SATIN AND SABLE

Mary Boland, appearing in ALICE IN WONDERLAND looked as distinguished as ever in a lovely gown of white satin banded in sable, with a row of gardenias at one shoulder.

Arlene Judge, appearing in Paramount's THANK YOUR STARS wore an exceedingly chic dinner costume of burgundy crepe with a transparent flesh net bodice, and a row of buttons straight down the back.

Another red gown was worn by Mary Brian, featured in COLLEGE RHYTHM, but this time it was in satin, square necked with rhinestone clips accenting each corner of the décolletage.

HANDS TO BE WARMER

Hollywood has certainly muffled the Christmas and New Year seasons.

With every type of cloth coat trimmed with fur, and with each new fur garment appearing in the film city one always sees these "hand-warmers."

Mary Ellis, co-starring with Carl Brisson in ALL THE KING'S HORSES, has a melon-shaped muff of ermine which matches her evening wrap and also goes with a dinner ensemble of black velvet trimmed with ermine bands.

LOOKING AT MAE WEST:

Hollywood is tumbling over itself to see some of the new Mae West clothes for her next film—NOW I'M A LADY.

Travis Banton, Paramount stylist, has already announced that Miss West's costumes for this film will be modern—but with some outstanding "significances."

AIR HOSTESS

Showing To-day At The Alhambra

Evalyn Knapp, the blonde actress whose recent performance opposite Lee Tracy in "Night Mayor" and with Jack Holt in "This Sporting Age" has won her much praise, plays the title role in Columbia's "Air Hostess" at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

Miss Knapp's characterization as one of the intrepid modern misses who fly the great transcontinental lines for their adventurous living is the finest part she has yet had on the screen.

In "Air Hostess" she has for her leading man James Murray, talented young actor who made his sensational screen debut in "The Crowd."

"Air Hostess" was directed by Al Rogell.

which are being shrouded in mystery. Mae will also introduce two new coiffures, which are being designed to go with her clothes in NOW I'M A LADY.

FULL-LENGTH GLOVES
FOR THE STREET

Kathleen Burke, who is featured in Paramount's LIVES OF A BENGAL LANCER, is wearing a striking new pair of gloves.

With a street costume of black velvet, short-sleeved and tailored, Miss Burke sports black jersey gloves which run the full length of the arm.

FORMALITY RETURNS

This season in Hollywood's social set differs noticeably from the last. There is a distinct tendency toward full dress, formality and the "gala" mood.

Claudette Colbert, the famous Paramount actress, starring in THE GILDED LILY, announces that she is supplying her wardrobe with extremely formal types of evening attire rather than the modified dinner dresses which prevailed last season.

The coal owners of Pennsylvania have complained that Paul Muni's coming picture, "Black Hell" which tells of life in a coal mine, is calculated to cause friction in industrial areas. Warners have already put the picture in production and refuse to do anything about it.

THE QUEEN'S
ATTRACTIONWhat Every Woman Knows

Lovers of Sir James Barrie's whimsical romance, "What Every Woman Knows," who have been spectators at the stage play during the past decade, are to receive a new thrill with the picture version having its final screenings to-day at the Queen's Theatre and starring Helen Hayes.

Every facility of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios was concentrated in close attention to detail both human and pictorial values under the personal supervision of Irving Thalberg, the producer.

Months of careful testing before actual filming began resulted in one of the most notable casts of the year. Brian Aherne, English stage star, who appeared recently in "The Fountain," was chosen as John Shand, the leading man; a most unusual departure in screen roles was attempted by Madge Evans, who changed from recent unsophisticated portrayals to do Lady Sybil, English "siren" Lucile Watson, New York stage heart-breaker of a decade ago, who recently scored a sensational comeback in "No More Ladies," on the Broadway stage, makes her talking picture debut as a despondent Countess.

Also in supporting roles are Dudley Digges, Donald Crisp and David Torrence as the immortal Wylie family, about whom the plot revolves; with Henry Stephenson as Sir Venables, famed political advisor, and Boyd Irwin as Tenderden.

Scenes and dialogue of the original Barrie play were transferred to the screen by Gregory La Cava, who has won critical acclaim for his work on "Gabriel Over the White House" and recently "The Affairs of Cellini." Only the slightest compromises were worked out to better clarify the story for the camera.

To insure absolute authenticity in Scotch accents and backgrounds, Harry Lauder II, nephew of Sir Harry Lauder, famous Scotch singer and comedian, was obtained as technical advisor. Under his guidance the actual atmosphere of a Scottish home was created on the sound stages as a vital part of the sparkling action.

From photographs of villages in the neighbourhood of Glasgow and Edinburgh, all exteriors were reproduced to the point where even real Scottish extras recruited in Hollywood declared they were homesick.

Scotch kilts bands provided backgrounds for much of the action. Scottish heather gathered from California nurseries was used for decorative purposes in sets.

To carefully mould the appealing Barrie romance into the living reality of a screen play was the task of Monckton Hoffe, noted English author, who made a trip from London to assist Irving Thalberg in preparing the new picture.

Gaumont British To Film
"Livingstone"

Another George Arliss Subject

If Mr. George Arliss accepts an invitation that is being extended to him by the Gaumont British Picture Corporation Ltd., the star, who is at present en route for Hollywood, will appear as Dr. Livingstone in a film dealing with the life of the famous explorer. It has already been announced that Mr. Arliss is to return to the Shepperton Studios in 1935 to make further pictures for Gaumont-British.

The decision to offer this role to Mr. Arliss has been reached following the result of a nation-wide competition, in which members of the public were invited to choose the famous characters from real life or fiction which they thought most suitable to be brought to life by the great actor. It is the first occasion on which Gaumont

LAVISH SETS AND GIRLS
EMPHASIZE GLAMOUR OF
"THE GAY DIVORCEE"

Besides being a remarkably funny, gay and brisk romantic comedy, "The Gay Divorcee" coming to the King's Theatre soon, presents strikingly unusual settings and a bevy of beauties who combine charm, femininity and extreme daring.

Architecturally, the settings are more like a fantasy than anything else; particularly in the conception by studio draftsmen, of a hotel as it would be fifty years from now.

The exterior, covering a floor space of some 22,000 square feet, resembles a futuristic drawing. The interiors are even more exciting, what with fur-lined bedrooms, frosted glass mantelpieces large enough to dance upon, and the most amazing bed of yesterday, to-day or tomorrow.

This couch, which is occupied by Ginger Rogers in one of the comedy's most amusing sequences, will never be practical until moths are entirely exterminated. It is upholstered with long white fur, from head to foot, and bears a spread to match so that the whole thing resembles a polar bear—a marvellous setting for one so vivacious as Miss Rogers.

The girls, who in the film perform an Adagio ensemble while completely attired in full evening dress as opposed to the usual and safer semi-nudity, were selected by three unbiased beauty judges from thousands of applicants. Statistically, they are said to represent, for beauty and for talent, one girl out of every 20,000.

"The Gay Divorcee" which co-stars Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, was adapted for the screen from Astaire's international stage hit of the same title, which scored 283 performances in New York and ran for six months in London.

Featured are Alice Brady and Edward Everett Horton, while William Austin, Erik Rhodes and Eric Blore are other comedy players in the cast.

The plot is one of those unusual ones which cannot be revealed in any phase without detracting from the treat in store. It is a 100-mile-an-hour romance, laugh festival and spectacle, with no pause for parking.

THE PAINTED VEIL

American-Born Chinese Appear In Dance
Scenes Of Garbo Film

To many of the 1000-odd American-born Chinese swarming a vast studio sound stage at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the symbolic ritual in which they were engaged was the first in their lives.

They had been told of these religious festivals since birth but never had they seen one, much less taken part in one.

Wearing the silk-jackets and the pill-box hats of their race and station, they were there as "atmosphere" for the ritualistic Chinese dance spectacle staged for the new Garbo picture, THE PAINTED VEIL.

American born, few of them had ever seen the weird ceremony which in China celebrates the marriage of the flame-wreathed Sun God, Yi, to the beautiful Moon Goddess.

The old men and women among them, the Chinese-born, looked on with impressed gravity. Was not this the most important ceremony of their religion, authentically duplicated in this American film studio for all the world to see?

But to their sons and daughters it was all new and full of wonder. Little by little, as the spectacle was about to begin, they forgot acquired manners in wide-eyed wonderment.

Fou Yang, who had left his day law office for the day to earn a more certain pay check, lapsed from English into his own Chinese as he viewed the impressive preparations.

Lin Fing, a pretty Chinese stenographer, off for the day, ceased chewing American gum so rapidly when the great Stowitts, internationally famed interpretative dancer, ascended the temple stairs to his throne, covered with the flaming, fantastic costume of the Sun God.

Unconsciously they merged into the spirit of the ritual, huddling together along the outer edges of the long sloping tiers of temple steps.

In their excitement they forgot for the moment that the Great Garbo was standing in full view with her leading man, Herbert Marshall, near enough to be touched.

From the teachings of their fathers they well understood the symbolic significance behind every move, every gesture and every look.

When warriors and priests took positions high on the steps, they peered intently. When the Moon Goddess, with noble mien, stood before her attendants, their voices hushed instinctively.

A loud-speaker carried Director Richard Boleslawski's orders. At a signal, switches were snapped on a dozen cameras, "shooting" from all angles.

Slowly, sinuously the great dance began. The thousand odd watched, with bated breath.

First a knot of athletes, with painted masks and grotesque costumes, rushed up, down and across the great steps, heralding the approach of the dragon. Thirty feet long and belching fire from distended nostrils it came, slowly swaying toward the altar at the bottom.

Soldiers rushed to the attack with long spears, only to be repulsed. Priests in sackcloth heads shaved, invoked their gods to destroy the evil spirit, in vain.

Then, with infinite grace the Moon Goddess descended the stairs, delicately moving to the far-off beat of drums. Meanwhile soldiers, dancers and priests rushed terror-stricken about the courtyard.

The monster was nearing the altar!

Surrendering, the Moon Goddess prostrated herself before the throne of Yi, terrible Sun God. A blazing focal point for myriad shafts of light, Yi descended his fiery throne, overcame the dragon and placed the Goddess on its vanquished head. Then in strange ritual the entire assemblage of performers chanted their victory as they slowly ascended the palace stairs.

At this point a whistle split the air. With simultaneous movement, the thousand odd rushed to hurl themselves headlong at the feet of Yi's throne.

There was no hesitation, no embarrassment. As naturally as if they had done this from the beginning of time, they flattened themselves against the "hallowed" stairs.

And thus they remained until cameras stopped and assistants bade them return to former positions for the next "take."

On the sand lot of Hollywood, where everything is possible, they had at last witnessed and taken part in one of the great religious ceremonies of their race.

THE SILVER CORD

Showing To-day At The Star

A heart-throb story of a bride's triumph over a conniving mother-in-law abounds in dramatic thrills for every type of film fan who visits Star Theatre to-day to see "The Silver Cord," starring Irene Dunne.

Miss Dunne, enacting a modern wife, contributes a splendid performance against a background of elaborate settings and splendid photography. As Christina, she rises in magnificent wrath against the insidious tactics employed by a selfish mother who seeks to retain her son's love exclusively for her self, unconcerned with their normal impulses to live with mates of their own choice.

With her husband David, Christina visits his mother's home, where the insanely selfish woman, looses no time in launching her campaign to wreck her son's happiness, not one whit deterred by Christina's forthcoming baby. Mental cruelty is her first barrage when she forces the pair to sleep in separate rooms. "Calculating lies, deceit and studiously inhuman methods soon drive Christina to a desperate move.

She throws her whole happiness into one cast of the dice of fate. With David as a witness, she tears the mother's hypocrisy asunder. She points out her envious propensities in lavishing on her children the love she selfishly withheld from her husband. Christina demands, rightfully and courageously that her husband choose between her and his mother. The climax—powerful, ironic, caustic—leaves an indelible impression with its tense, dramatic power.

A cast of extraordinary talent supports Miss Dunne in "The Silver Cord." Laura Hope Crews,

MOBY DICK

At The Alhambra
To-morrow

"Moby Dick" was the most famous and infamous whale that ever lived. Ancient and grizzled tars, retired now, still recount the hair-raising legends of the great white whale, that killed sailors and wrecked ships.

The Warner Bros. and Vitaphone version of the immortal Herman Melville novel of this name, in which John Barrymore will appear at The Alhambra Theatre to-morrow offers thrilling melodrama against a background of stormy seas and stormier passions. Nothing just like "Moby Dick" has ever been attempted on the talking screen before. Authentic and spectacular, the epic struggle between man and the world's greatest living monster, makes "Moby Dick" a picture that can never be forgotten. Joan Bennett plays opposite Mr. Barrymore. Lloyd Bacon directed.

creator of the mother role in the original Theatre Guild production of the Sidney Howard play, enacts her part masterfully. Joel McCrea as David, is genuinely the perfect son torn between the loves of his wife and mother. Eric Linden and Frances Dee, as the younger son and his fiancée, also give brilliant characterizations.

When "The Silver Cord" was produced in New York several years ago, it created a sensation among play-goers. As a film it tops the stage production by reason of its scope and sweep. Imbued with John Cromwell's expert direction of the film from experience which he gathered while staging the play; excellent histrionics by Miss Dunne and her support, and a smooth adaptation by Jane Murnin of Howard's play, "The Silver Cord" unrolls mature, entertaining film fare.

THE WORLD MOVES ON

Opening To-day At The King's

"Imagine a film star who methodically and regularly deletes her ego!"

With this remark, Hollywood marvelled at Madeleine Carroll, co-starred with Franchot Tone in the Fox Film, "The World Moves On," which opens at the King's Theatre to-day.

Madeleine's naturalness and utter lack of conceit "floored" the film colony.

"How do you manage to remain so modest?" interviewers asked her. "Temperament is merely bad temper," she replied, "and there is no excuse for either bad temper or conceit when everything possible is done to make us happy in studios."

"I personally, could not become conceited in Hollywood if I wanted. Here nobody knows anything about me, or my past work, with the exception, perhaps, of my performance in 'I Was A Spy.' Further more, I realize Hollywood does not want to know anything about my past. It is my present work which will be judged in the future that matters."

"Moreover, I am so dazed and impressed by the magnificence of studios, the competence of everybody working in them, and the lavishness with which money is spent on a production, that I am often too awed to offer my opinion when it is asked."

"This Hollywood visit has taught me other valuable lessons. I know definitely now that screen success does not come from unique dialogue, exaggerated make-up, ultrasmart screen clothes, or that misused expression 'sex appeal.' It means, rather, a quiet, restrained, dignified portrayal of a character, which can come only from within."

MOVIE-NEWS

Sheridan's famous comedy, "The School for Scandal" is likely to be filmed by Universal in the New Year, with Lowell Sherman directing. Madeleine Carroll appeared in a British film of this play a few years ago.

M.G.M. are to make a sequel to "The Thin Man." Dashiell Hammett, author of the original novel, has arrived in Hollywood to write its successor.

Ben Hecht and Charles Mac Arthur, author-producers of "Crime Without Passion" have been invited by the Soviet Government to make a picture in Russia. The Americans have not yet decided but the offer is taken as a sign that Russia is giving up its policy of purely propaganda pictures in favour of entertainment.

AT THE QUEEN'S TO-MORROW

Channel Crossing

One of the most popular players on the screen today is Edmund Gwenn. He is at his best in characterizations of simple, homely types which have their counterparts in every town throughout the kingdom. Mr. Gwenn's success is due to his ability, which makes his characters live. One feels that one knows them; they delight and please with their simple humour; sheds a tear here and there at their tribulations, which, after all, is a tribute to the art of the actor.

Edmund Gwenn specialises in dialect roles. One remembers his creation of J. B. Priestley's beloved character, Jess Oakroyd in "The Good Companions." One came away from those pictures feeling that one wanted to see and know more of "Chris" and "Jess" albeit they had played a big part in the development of the story.

In "Channel Crossing" opening to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre Edmund Gwenn has another role which his admirers will find much to their liking, that of Trotter, a Lancastrian, who, with his wife and family, are paying their first visit to France. Matheson Lang and Constance Cummings are the Stars of this picture, of which Edmund Gwenn has a featured role.

was the rush for tickets that only a few, were left.

Valerie Hobson, the 19-year old London stage and screen actress has been given the leading role opposite Ralph Bellamy in Universal's "Rendezvous at Midnight." It was only in July of last year that she left for Hollywood to play in "Great Expectations."

MONARCH OF ALL HE SURVEYS

Palace On Isles Of Heavenly Footstep

Monarch of all he surveys—that is a literal description of Mr. Sidney Clunies-Ross, who rules over the Cocos Islands, which lie in the Indian Ocean 700 miles to the southwest of Java.

The long arm of the income-tax collector has just stretched all the way to the Cocos Islands and demanded £18,656 for super-tax which Mr. Clunies-Ross has got to pay. But he is a ruler all the same.

It is stranger than Robinson Crusoe, this story of Mr. Clunies-Ross.

It begins back in 1825, when his great-grandfather, John Clunies-Ross, who was sailing in those latitudes, sighted the Cocos Islands. Despite the lawless natives he made a landing, and liked the look of the place. Two years later he went back with his wife and family and set up his kingdom.

These islands, by the way, must not be confused with Cocos Island in the Pacific—that goal of treasure seekers. They were discovered by an Englishman, one William Keeling.

On arriving at Cocos Clunies-Ross found another adventurer in possession—one John Hare, who lived with about 200 slaves who had been presented to him by the Rajah of Bangor. The two did not agree very well and eventually Hare departed, leaving Clunies-Ross in undisputed possession.

His family have reigned there ever since.

He governed wisely and well. His son George "succeeded" and eventually the British Government decided to recognize these staunch adventurers who had carved out a kingdom for themselves.

To Have and To Hold For Ever

In the files of the Colonial Office I saw an imposing indenture. It reads:

"The indenture made on the seventh day of July 1886 Between the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty or the first part, Sir Frederick Aloysius Weld, a Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander in Chief of the Straits Settlements and Vice-Admiral of the same, and George Clunies-Ross, of the Cocos Islands, gentleman.

...in the name of the Queen's Majesty grant unto the said George Clunies-Ross and his heirs all and singular, the lands situate and being above the high-water mark within the Cocos Islands, to have and to hold for ever.

Nowadays, there are about 800 people on the islands which are coral atolls set round a glorious lagoon.

Most of the inhabitants are Malays, but since a cable station was built in 1901 some nine white men have been stationed there, so the "king" does not lack for company.

There is no metal currency. Notes stamped on sheepskin and signed by Mr. Clunies-Ross are the only money. There is no police force, and the king possesses power of life and death.

It was this wireless station that the German cruiser Emden destroyed in 1914. It was at Cocos she met her fate when the Australian cruiser Sydney came along.

There is no water on the islands. Drinking water is condensed and kept in big tanks. Rain water is used for all other purposes.

The islands have a yacht club, tennis courts and first class swimming and big game fishing.

The "royal palace" is a charming bungalow built in tropical style with broad verandahs. It is on Home Island, or the Island of the Heavenly Footstep as it is called.

Direction Island, the cable station—a most important link in the Empire chain—is just across the lagoon. Mr. Clunies-Ross is the fourth of his line.

"King" John was the first of his line to marry a white woman—she is the only one on the islands. All his predecessors married daughters of the Malay chief tains.

Serious Charge Against Widow

Li Ho, a 38-year old widow, living at No. 18, Swatow Street, was charged before Mr. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday with having attempted to procure six women and girls to leave the Colony with intent to make them become inmates of brothels elsewhere.

The complainants were Li Chan, 15, Fung Lul, 18, Tang Yuk Chan, 18, Ho Lai, 17, Cheung Lin Min, 21 and Wong Yuk Mui, 20.

Inspector Andrew of the S.C.A. appeared for the prosecution and the defendant was represented by Mr. F. H. Loseby.

Outlining the case for the prosecution, Inspector Andrew said that between 21st and 24th of this month at various places, in one instance in Canton and the others in Hong Kong, each of the six girls came into contact with the defendant, and it was alleged that on January 24 they were either taken by the defendant or asked by her to join her on board the s.s. Lyemmoon which was anchored at West Point, and which sailed that night for Saigon. At 3.30 that afternoon, he (Inspector Andrew) went on board the ship and there found the defendant and four girls on the main deck and the other two on the twin deck. They were all taken to his office where each of the girls produced a passage ticket. Evidence would be called to prove that these tickets were given to the girls by the defendant and also that she had told them, should they be asked by the police, to say that they were going to Saigon to join their husbands. On defendant's person was found $180 in Indo-China currency and $20 in Siamese money and it was alleged that the defendant had promised to pay some of the girls $300 and some $200 immediately the ship had sailed. The girls knew that they were being taken away but in no case had any of them been a prostitute before.

Li Chan, 15, one of the girls, was then called and she stated that she first met the defendant on January 22 when the latter came to her house at 150, Cheung-shawan Road to call on one of her fellow-tenants. Defendant asked her if she had any work to do, and on witness replying in the negative, suggested that she should go to Saigon where, defendant said, she could easily make a good living. Witness asked her how she could make a living in Saigon and defendant replied that she should become a prostitute. Witness agreed to this suggestion and defendant then instructed her to meet her sister on board the s.s. Lyemmoon on January 24 at 12 noon. Defendant also told her that she would give her a passage ticket; there and that should any one ask her why she was going to Saigon, she was to say that she was going to join her husband. She was also promised $200 by defendant immediately after the ship had sailed. During this conversation witness's sister was in the rear cubicle but she did not hear what they were talking about. On the day she left, however, witness told her sister that she was going to Saigon to be a prostitute. Her sister advised her not to go but she insisted. When she reached the s.s. Lyemmoon she was met by the defendant who gave her a passage ticket, at the same time telling her to sit by herself.

Shortly afterwards the police arrived and she was taken ashore together with the other girls and defendant.

After further evidence the case was adjourned.

COUNTERFEIT COINS

Apparatus Seized

A Police raid carried out on January 8, 1935 at 4 Un Chau Street, 3rd floor, had its sequel before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy when three unemployed Chinese males, Chu Wai Shan, 27, Li Fat, 30 and Yeung Kau, 27 were charged with the possession of moulds for counterfeiting Hong Kong ten cent pieces.

Sub-Inspector Cunningham prosecuted while Mr. M. K. Lo represented the second defendant. In outlining the case, Sub-Inspector Cunningham said that acting on information received he and a party of police officers raided 4 Un Chau Street, 3rd floor, on January 8 at about 12.30 a.m.

On arrival the place was locked and upon asking for admittance the first defendant peeped out through a glass panel and shortly after followed by the 2nd and 3rd defendants, who were called out by the first, all the three bolted away.

Upon the police breaking down the door the 2nd and 3rd defendants were seen to run away towards the verandah and disappeared down the 2nd floor while the first defendant was somewhere near the kitchen breaking up the moulds.

Two detectives were detailed to follow the 2nd and 3rd men and when they entered the 2nd floor the two men were pointed out by the principal tenant as being the two men who had come down from the floor above. All three men were then brought to the station and charged. There was one woman there at the time and she was also taken into custody. The materials were collected and taken to the Government Analyst.

Analyst's Report
The first witness, called was Mr. Arthur Jackson, Acting Government Analyst, who deposed of receiving 21 packages from Sub-Inspector Cunningham on January 10 and upon examining the contents found that the materials submitted were good for counterfeiting coins.

Girl's Evidence
Chan Wai Fung, the girl who was arrested by the police at the address, told the court that she was sent to bring a message to the first defendant by his friend. On arrival there she saw the three defendants in the rear room but did not know what they were doing.

On the point of leaving the house the police came and she described the actions of the three men after the breaking down of the door. The first defendant was actually seen by her to break up some clay substance.

Evidence of the raid and arrests was given by Chinese Detective Lam Chi Wing who spoke of the actions of the three men on the scene. After they were arrested the second defendant produced a rent receipt upon being questioned.

After further police evidence was given the case was adjourned.

Mr. Lo reserved his cross-examination of the witnesses to a later date.

ALLEGED ROBBERS CAUGHT

Two gangsters entered 298 Ma-tai-wei Road, Kowloon City district, the home of Mrs. Buntzen, at 9.30 yesterday morning, and after tying and gagging the victim, made off with $145 in cash and a gold finger ring.

In the street later, two men, alleged to be the robbers, were chased by Traffic Sgt. McInnes on his motor-cycle and by a motor-driver in his vehicle, and eventually caught.

Sgt. Effremoff was yesterday fined a total of $30 on two summonses for having driven private car No. 3884 without an appropriate licence and with failing to make a report of the accident to the police. Both instances occurred on December 18 at about 1.30 a.m.

Defendant admitted both summonses and the Magistrate Mr. W. Schofield remarked that it was more serious as he was a police officer and should have known better.

In connection with the same case, Sub-Inspector Dredge was summoned for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive his car. Inspector Alexander asked for a week's remand as Inspector Dredge was in hospital.

It will be recalled that the present summonses are a sequel to the recent Coroner's inquiry into the death of Pang Yeung, a street coolie in Pottinger Street on December 18.

Naval Officer Fined

Lt. J. N. Garnett, Royal Navy, was fined a total of $30 on three summonses of having allowed an unlicensed driver to drive private car No. 1738 at Repulse Bay on December 24 last year; driving without an appropriate licence; and failing to report a collision with bus No. 2439.

Wong Tung, 24, appeared before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Central Magistracy yesterday, charged with returning to the Colony before his term of banishment had expired. "My father died in the country and I came here to get money from relatives to bury him; but I could not find them," stated the accused. Detective-Sergeant Goodwin said accused was a street coolie and had been in the Colony for about three weeks. Nine months' hard labour was passed.

For substituting a metal ring for a gold one at the Cheong Hing goldsmith shop, 100 Tai Nam Street on Sunday, Man Cheung, aged 30, unemployed, was brought before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday and was sentenced to two months' hard labour. Detective-Sergeant Poyntz stated that the defendant went to the shop with another man, and when he was shown a gold ring, he substituted it with another of inferior metal.

Wan Ying, aged 22, unemployed, appeared before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, charged with stealing a signboard from No. 364 Nathan Road, the property of Dr.

Ho Asjoe on Monday. It was stated that the defendant was seen by a detective at 4 a.m., and he immediately dropped the signboard and ran away but was eventually caught. Sentence of six weeks' hard labour was passed. Detective-Sergeant Dowman prosecuted.

Two unemployed seamen, Yan Kam-shi and Yau Fuk, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday, on a charge of possession of two weapons designed for the discharge of gas cartridges and also 13 cartridges in Cross Street, without authority from His Excellency the Governor. The first defendant admitted the offence, but the second defendant denied it. On the application of Detective Sergeant Fitches, the case was remanded for 48 hours' bail in $1,000 each being allowed.

Appearing before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday in answer to summonses for allowing a dog abroad in Boundary Street, without a muzzle on January 13, B. Basto, of No. 143 Boundary Street was fined $5.

Appearing on remand at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of unlawful possession of an Agfa folding camera in Percival Street, Lee Leung, watchman at the Lee Theatre, Ng Chiu-man, manager of the Kwong Wa electric bulb shop, and Ng Kuen, unemployed, were remanded until noon on Thursday, when the case will be heard.

The theft of a pair of cotton socks from a boy hawker in Aberdeen Street led to the arrest of Cheung Yau, a book binder, who appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court yesterday. He was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour on pleading guilty. Inspector A. W. Smith prosecuted.

A Chinese boatman, who was charged with unlawfully carrying prostitutes on board his Passenger Boat last Monday night, was convicted and fined $50 by the Hon. Commander G. F. Hole at the Marine Court yesterday morning.

Another four Chinese boatmen and boatwomen, who were charged with anchoring their boats near the entrance of the Yau-mai Typhoon Shelter last Monday in such a position as to obstruct the free access of the other vessels, were each fined $10 or in default one week's hard labour.

PROGRESS IN BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

Col. M. H. Logan Addresses Rotarians

Col. M. H. Logan, speaking on the "Progress of Modern Building Construction" at the Rotary Club yesterday gave his audience a vivid picture of speed in building to the erection of the past. The speaker's reference to the erection of the new building for the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank was particularly interesting. He mentioned that he had every hope that the record in the speed of building will be broken in Hong Kong.

Mr. A. L. Shields presided at the meeting and there was a large attendance of members, and visitors.

NOISE MAY BE ELIMINATED

Col. Logan said:—Methods and materials have changed greatly during the past 25 years, and scientific management and research have made it possible to erect a large building in a fraction of the time which it formerly took to erect structures of lesser degrees and magnitude. The demands of modern business, high site value and the loss of revenue consequent upon delay have tended to speed up construction methods. In the Far East, we cannot as yet compare with the speed of erection attained in the United States, largely because we are so far from the sources of supply of some of the most important elements which are included in the make-up of a modern building, but in comparison with Great Britain we are not actually behind, and if anything we are ahead.

It is only of very recent date that the leading builders and architects of Great Britain have adopted a system known as the "Time and Progress Schedule" of American origin, whereas in China, certainly in Shanghai, it has been in use for at least ten years and the speed in erection of buildings which I presume must be allowed to be called "skyscrapers" varying from 14 to 20 storeys in height has not been surpassed anywhere outside the continent of America, though I have every hope and expectation that the record will yet be broken in Hong Kong.

A Fresh Impetus

The skeleton steel-framed building, (though not new to the Far East, for steel-framed buildings were being erected here in Hong Kong 25 years and more ago) has received a fresh impetus from the evolution of a new high tensile stress steel, 50 per cent stronger than mild steel, and nearly double in its resistance to corrosion. It is now possible by the use of such steel to effect large saving in weight on foundation, and also in freight charges—not inconsiderable items.

The New Bank

The frame-work of the new Hong Kong Bank building is constructed of this new material, and it is the first instance where it has been used for the entire frame-work of a building in the British Empire (Applause). The real structural strength of such a building consists in the steel frame work, the masonry or brickwork facing being all carried on the steel frame floor-by floor, and it would be quite possible to remove the masonry of the lower floors altogether without disturbing the structural stability of the building.

Air conditioning has been made the subject of much research, and it is now possible to alleviate much of the discomfort experienced during the heat of the summer months. Air conditioning must not be confounded with air-cooling. It is possible to cool air without extracting the moisture, but the relief experienced is questionable. Air-conditioning consists in purifying and de-humidifying the air before introducing it into a building. To remove the excess moisture in the air it is necessary to wash it but washing with water of ordinary temperature in the summer would not have the desired effect—it becomes necessary therefore to provide a complete refrigerating plant which will reduce the temperature of the water to below the dew-point, or the point at which the air will deposit the moisture it contains.

New Heating

A few forms of heating is now much in vogue in the newer buildings, not only in Great Britain but also in the United States. It is an undoubted improvement on the older system of heating by steel or hot water radiators, and is known by the name of "panel heating," from the method of installing copper hot-water coils in the fabric of the building itself either in the walls, floor or ceiling.

Oxy-acetylene flame cutting apparatus for cutting metal, oxy-acetylene and electric welding in pipe-work, all have their applications in modern building construction, and it is more than probable that in the near future, the steel frame of buildings will be welded together instead of, as at present, being fastened by rivets, driven either by hand, or compressed air-operated hammers. When this day arrives, I can well imagine that a general sigh of relief will go up from those whose misfortune it has been to reside or work in the vicinity of a steel-framed building under erection.

Research into mortars and concretes has resulted in many notable economies, and even here in Hong Kong, we are obtaining strength in concrete mixtures and mortars, which were undreamed of a few years ago. The subject is a highly technical one and I cannot do more than mention, as a matter of interest, that the amount of cement incorporated in a concrete is not the governing factor as regards the strength of the material ultimately obtained. The water-cement ratio, or the amount of water used in the mixing of concrete is the all-important factor.

Vote of Thanks

A vote of thanks on behalf of members of the Rotary Club was proposed of Mr. S. G. Igglesden, who said that he hoped everyone present had enjoyed the interesting speech as much as he himself had done. He asked Col. Logan whether air-conditioning enabled anyone with in a building so in sunshine on a bright day.

Col. Logan in a brief reply explained that to obtain perfect air-conditioning all outside air had to be excluded. A sample of granite which had been dug out from a depth of 130 feet below road level in Des Voeux Road Central was on view.

CARTER THE GREAT

A Super Magician

It is not very often that Hong Kong audiences are treated to "exceptionally good shows" so that when we have the opportunity of attending one, such a chance should not be allowed to slip. Thanks to the consideration which the management of the King's Theatre are forever giving their patrons the public have had many such opportunities during the past week. "Carter the Great," as that master mind is known, is here with the most accomplished troupe of magicians that have visited us for many a long day and the more one sees of them, the more one wonders how such marvellous feats as are performed by them, are ever accomplished.

Last night at the King's Theatre, the writer could only sit in silent admiration as he watched trick after trick performed... or to use the words of one of the audience, "watch the impossible being accomplished."

Many a magician have come and gone, but the memory of "Carter the Great" will linger even long after he has left these shores. He is indeed a super magician and it is with the utmost confidence that we recommend a visit to the King's Theatre, to those who have not yet seen Carter.

ROYAL NAVY

Command Of First Cruiser Squadron

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 12.

The Admiralty announce that the appointment has been approved of Rear-Admiral Geoffrey Blake, C.B., D.S.O. to be Rear-Admiral Commanding First Cruiser Squadron, in succession to Rear-Admiral John K. In Thurn, C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., to date July, 1935.

This change follows the normal routine, as Rear-Admiral In Thurn will complete two years in command of the squadron in June next. It normally includes the four cruisers of the London class, but one of them, the Sussex, has been lent to the Australian Navy, and H.M.A.S. Australia is on her way to England (with the Duke of Gloucester), and will join the squadron as an exchange cruiser in the spring.

Rear-Admiral Blake has been Fourth Sea Lord and Chief of Supplies and Transport since September, 1932. No successor to him at the Admiralty has yet been announced. He entered the Navy from Winchester in 1897, and was a commander throughout the late War. At the Jutland battle he was gunnery and principal control officer in the Fleet flagship Iron Duke, and was awarded the D.S.O. for his services. From January, 1917, he was executive officer of the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of Admiral Beatty, and was promoted to captain in the first list after the Armistice. He was Commodore and Rear-Admiral Commanding the New Zealand Station in 1929-32.

Warrant Officers' Pay

Special rates of full pay were granted some time ago to married and widower warrant officers of the R.N. and R.M. whose promotion to warrant rank would otherwise involve them in pecuniary loss. These special rates are based upon the emoluments of the rating held immediately before promotion to warrant rank, and are therefore not variable on account of subsequent changes in the pay of ratings. In a new Order in Council it is stated that the Admiralty are of opinion that such warrant officers should, like the ratings from which they were promoted, derive benefit from any improved scales of pay which may from time to time be granted to the men concerned on account of an improvement in the state of the national finances, and provision is made accordingly. No officer is to receive a special rate of pay in excess of that which would have been granted to him had there been no reduction in the pay of men on October 1, 1931, on grounds of national economy, or in excess of the maximum rate of full pay, on the normal scale from time to time applicable to his rank.

As might be expected, it was America in newspaper groups which were bidding against each other for the letters and United Features, the Scripps Howard agency, finally secured them for 1,000,000 francs, which amounts at the present rate of exchange to well over £215,000. The rights sold are for the whole world with the exception of

TEACHING OF HYGIENE

Discussion at Sanitary Board

The question of teaching hygiene in the English and Vernacular Schools of the Colony was discussed at the fortnightly meeting of the Sanitary Board held yesterday when Dr. Li Shu Fan, pursuant to notice, asked the following questions:—

"With reference to the teaching of hygiene in the English and Vernacular Schools of the Colony, will the Head of the Sanitary Department kindly furnish answers to the following questions?

- (a) Whether or not the subject of hygiene is included in the syllabus of all the English and Vernacular Schools?
- (b) What are the names of the English and Chinese textbooks in general use.
- (c) (i) Are all of such textbooks in use recommended or approved by the Director of Education? (ii) If the answer is in the negative, state reason.
- (d) In what grade of the English and Vernacular Schools is the subject of hygiene first taught and how long is the course?
- (e) (i) Does the Director of Education consider the textbooks in use adequate and satisfactory? (ii) If not, state how and when will the situation be remedied?

The replies

The President of the Board, Mr. W. J. Carrie, replied as follows:—I am indebted to the Director of Education for the replies to these questions:—

- (a) Hygiene is included in the syllabus of all English Schools in Hong Kong and is taught in the Teachers' Classes at the Technical Institute.
- (ii) It is also included in the syllabus of all Vernacular Schools having Standard IV and upwards.
- (b) The textbooks used are as follows:— (i) For English Schools: "Hygiene for Schools" by Dr. E. M. Minett. (ii) For Vernacular Schools: 1. The "Fook Hing" Hygiene (published by the Commercial Press). 2. The Hong Kong Hygiene (published in Hong Kong). 3. The "San Foh Ching" Hygiene. 4. The "Siu Hok" Hygiene (Primary School Hygiene). 5. The "Mung Hok" Hygiene (Elementary Hygiene Lessons).
- (c) The answer to question (c) is in the affirmative.
- (d) (i) In English Schools, the teaching commences in Class 7 and continues for four years. (ii) In Vernacular Schools, Hygiene is taught as a separate subject from Standard IV upwards but in the lower standards Health talks are included as part of "General Intelligence" teaching.
- (e) (i) There are few school text books which are not capable of improvement and the Director sees no reason to think that school text books on Hygiene are an exception to this rule. (ii) Any shortcomings will be remedied with the production of improved text books: the Director cannot foretell when books may be expected.

Application approved. The Board approved of the application for the registration of New Kowloon Dairy Farm Lot No. 20, Diamond Hill, as a dairy.

Attendance

Those present at the meeting were: Mr. W. J. Carrie (President), Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson (vice-President), Hon. Mr. N. H. Smith (Secretary for Chinese Affairs), Dr. G. W. Pope (Medical Officer of Health), Mr. F. C. Hall (Mr. L. C. F. Bellamy, Dr. Li Shu Fan, Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, Mr. C. J. Roe (Secretary) and Mr. Im Ping-tseung (assistant secretary).

France, and when the sum obtained for the French publication rights is added the total amount should be very close to the purchase price of the letters.

THE FREEDOM OF THE AIR

The current year promises to offer private flying fresh opportunities of development. Public attention, directed by certain recent demonstrations to commercial air transport, is also to be invited to the field in which private flying and air touring are, in spite of some difficulties, modestly active. The Air League proposes to encourage young men of small means to learn to fly by raising a fund for their assistance. Should it succeed, the agitation, now gaining strength, against the payment of tax on petrol used in flying would give the learner and the amateur actually more help than he receives at present in the form of a subsidy. These two advances would be concerned primarily with the recruiting and training of amateur pilots. They should lead to more flying, but they may not lead to more international flying unless the way of the air tourist can be made easier; and the way of the air tourist is also one way, by no means negligible, of international intercourse and understanding. Air touring is still beset by many regulations, though not by more than might be expected to surround the infancy of a pastime which affords its devotees otherwise so much terrestrial freedom. These regulations are not to be swept away at a stroke, and familiarity with the new form of travelling for pleasure should itself speed their removal. Great Britain, Italy and Belgium are resolved to allow free aerodrome facilities to the air tourists of all nations which offer reciprocal advantages. The right relationship and feeling between host and guests will be evoked by hospitality of this kind, little though it may cost the nation which accords it.

The idea is to be commended—not particularly to the authorities in Britain who appear to have received it favourably, but to those nations who still regard it with suspicion. A more enlightened attitude towards private flying and a more reasonable hearing for other requests which the amateur pilot desires to make would certainly follow the universal acceptance of this plan. The subject of air obstacles is one in which national anxieties themselves tend to oppose the full use of the aeroplane as a solvent of international antipathies. Testimony has frequently been given to the spirit of friendship which exists among the men and women of various nationalities who fly their own aeroplanes. The hope that this spirit may spread with the wider use of air transport is tempered by the knowledge that the difficulties of private flying over strange lands serve to discourage some amateurs altogether and to cause the more experienced occasionally to hesitate. The difficulties of air touring, for instance, might be much simplified, but the reduction in number and extent of the prohibited areas is a still more urgent need if amateur navigators are not to be frightened away from certain routes or lost through attempts to take devious courses. Many a prohibited area is no real obstacle in the path of a pilot. Others impose a course which may take him over high ground or far out to sea. The present route around Rumania from Budapest to Stamboul is an example of the former class, fraught with serious danger in conditions of poor visibility. The long sea-crossing necessary between Italy and Sicily is an instance of the second class which the owners of single-engined aircraft face with some reluctance. In Europe there are a dozen regions in which pilots are disinclined to take the most direct course from one important centre to another

MOTOR TRAGEDY ON ISLAND ROAD

FATAL CAR RIDE BY CANTON STUDENTS

Struck By Protruding Iron Bars

A serious accident, resulting in the death of a seven-year old schoolboy and injuries to seven persons, three gravely, occurred on Island Road near Repulse Bay at about 2.30 yesterday afternoon when a bundle of about 20 long iron rods protruding from lorry No. 931 crashed into private car No. 2341, a Fiat five-seater tourer, which was coming from the opposite direction on its way to Aberdeen.

The accident occurred just near "The Castle" where the lorry was going down the steep road. There were two bundles of iron rods on the lorry, one lying on each side and protruding in front of the vehicle. The right bundle struck the Fiat and so serious was the impact that the top and the back of the vehicle were completely torn off while the windscreen was smashed to smithereens; the rear axle was also bent.

There were eight persons, including the driver, in the private car at the time, three sitting in front and five behind, and all of them received multiple injuries to the head, face and chest. Two of them were flung out of the car while the driver was found unconscious at the wheel.

Help By European

Almost immediately after the accident a European, who afterwards went away without revealing his identity, and who, we understand, is a visitor to the Colony, passed by in a public vehicle, No. 739, and he rendered what assistance he could until the arrival of the traffic police who immediately had the injured men taken to the Government Civil Hospital.

Enquiries made at the hospital late last night elicited the news that one of them, a seven-year old school boy, had passed away while three of them were still unconscious and in a dying condition.

The unfortunate party were mostly students from Canton, the youngest being seven years old and others up to twenty-seven.

and choose a longer or more inconvenient route so that they may not infringe regulations or take the risks which they impose.

The moves which are being made in the interests of those who fly are based on a full appreciation of the rational precautions which every country must insist on taking.

The wholesale abolition of prohibited areas is not suggested. The right of Governments to protect their military and naval establishments from air espionage is readily acknowledged. In certain circumstances it may be desirable to close portions of land frontiers to all aircraft, though such prohibitions would probably achieve little against the air smuggler and less against the air invader. In this matter the case presented on behalf of air transport rests on the belief that some of the prohibited areas guard secrets that some are defined without a proper understanding of the possibilities of air photography.

The end of many of them may easily be defeated by long-range photography, aided by the new apparatus which is sensitive to infra-red rays. In others nothing but a vertical photograph would reveal the vital information. The suggestion that prohibited areas should be re-examined and revised with more discrimination appears eminently reasonable and asks nothing on behalf of the aviator which would harm national interests. In these matters, the flying services might with advantage be consulted. Expert advice, if followed by military and naval authorities, might remove many obstacles and delimit many others in such a way that they would scarcely affect the flow of air traffic.

The need for action is clear, and investigation would certainly define how much might be done without any sacrifice of security. The organisations which watch the interests of the private owner and sporting pilot appear to be setting an excellent example in international co-operation.

TRANSFER OF THE SAAR

Technical Points Discussed

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Basle, Jan. 28.

The preliminary discussion on the various technical arrangements bound up with the forthcoming change of regime in the Saar territory was held here yesterday, the main questions discussed being currency, the future employment of the officials appointed by the Governing Commission, and the payments for the Saar mines.

After a provisional agreement is reached, the Committee of Three will meet on February 4 at Rome in order to draw up a definite programme, whereupon an agreement covering all the necessary arrangements provided for by the League's resolution of January 17 will be signed.

It is hoped that the change of currency from francs to marks will begin on February 18, the French currency to be handed over to France as part payment for the mines and other French investments. The total to be paid to France by Germany has been fixed at 100 million francs of which a considerable part will probably be paid in kind.

JUNK CHANGES HANDS

Pirates Cast The Crew Ashore

Another junk piracy was reported to the Police yesterday. Chiu Tak, 22, a native of Hoi Yin Village, Sunning and master of cargo boat No. T2466H, reported that his junk left for Aberdeen on January 12 with a crew comprising of Wong Sing, Wong Kit, Wong Fuk and Ma Piu with the intention of smuggling into Hoi Yin Village, the following cargoes:—100 packets of sugar valued at $400; 45 cases of matches valued at $100; and 5 sacks of dried sea products valued at $50.

On January 23 whilst five miles south of Cheung Chau, having been delayed by bad weather, the junk was attacked by another with seven men on board, five of whom were armed with revolvers. They overpowered the crew and took the junk to Nam Tao Island where they put the crew ashore and sailed away with the junk.

The crew returned to Hong Kong by the ferry boat Tai O and reported the matter to the Police.

INTENTIONS OF ICELAND

British Empire Membership

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Stockholm, Jan. 28.

Iceland has no intention of applying for membership in the British Commonwealth in 1940 when her act of union with Denmark lapses, declared the Icelandic Premier, Jonasson who is at present staying here in order to submit to King Christian for his signature to the seventy-nine new laws recently passed by the Icelandic Parliament. On being questioned by newspaper correspondents as to the reports which appeared in the British Press last summer suggesting that Iceland might join the British empire, Jonasson said these suggestions did not find much attention in Iceland which, despite the close commercial relations with England and a considerable amount of British capital invested in Iceland, had no other desire but to remain an independent state. Under the act of union with Denmark, Iceland is a sovereign state united with Denmark only through the identity of ruler.

VIRULENT ATTACK ON THE PREMIER

Disturbance In The House Of Commons

London, Jan. 28.

One of the most violent disturbances ever to occur in the public gallery of the House of Commons broke out to-night during the debate on the supplementary estimate for £5,000,000 to be voted towards the newly-created Unemployment Assistance Board, in order to standardise throughout the country the rates of assistance for able-bodied unemployed who have exhausted their unemployment benefits.

The Government's proposals were warmly criticised on the ground that they were inadequate by the Labourite, Mr. George Buchanan of Glasgow, who started the House by a virulent attack on the Premier, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, who was not present.

Mr. MacDonald was described as a mountebank, a swine, a low and dirty cur, who ought to be horse-whipped and slung out of public life.

Mr. Buchanan's outburst was followed by an outrageous scene in the public gallery where women rose, screaming, "Down with the National Government!" "Down with the baby-starvers!"

The demonstrators were immediately ejected by the House of Commons officers, but others who had at first appeared docile enough and had not joined in the shouting, took up the game, and constantly interrupted proceedings in the House.

Pandemonium ensued for some minutes. After sixty persons had been taken away and the shouting had not stopped, the Speaker finally ordered the whole gallery to be cleared.

PERRY REMAINS AN AMATEUR

No Settled Income As Professional

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 12.

F. J. Perry, the British lawn tennis champion, has definitely decided to remain an amateur, declares a special correspondent with the British team in Australia, and a well-known authority on the game. He will compete at Wimbledon and assist in the defence of the Davis Cup.

When the members of the British team sail for Colombo, he will return to New Zealand to compete for the championship, but will play no serious tennis subsequently until April, when he returns to England.

He has planned his homeward journey by way of Honolulu and Los Angeles, where he will stay for a month.

Perry said that he was never after physically than now. He can hit a ball as hard and as long as ever, and hopes that his aim will return.

Heart In The Amateur Game

Perry's heart is in the amateur game.

Moreover, he has discovered, after a careful audit, that the professional offers made him did not guarantee a settled income. Picrust was there, but no steak and kidney underneath.

What with commissions, income-tax and doubtful percentages he found that he would probably earn not more than £400 a year, while sacrificing many cherished associations.

The truth is that American promoters, seeking to support an ephemeral industry and quelling isolated matches in which profit accrued, while ignoring many where there was a loss, have bid frankly for Perry's body, forgetting that he has a soul of his own.

MR. HIROTA'S CHINA POLICY

Some Salient Points Disclosed

Tokyo, Jan. 29. The political correspondent of the "Osaka Mainichi" declares that the fundamental principles of Mr. Hirota's China policy in 1935 is expected to be based on efforts to show China the necessity of throwing overboard her age-old traditional policy of befriending distant states and antagonising neighbours.

The correspondent gives nine salient points the Foreign Office is taking into account in the formation of Japan's China policy. Among these are the following four:—

Firstly, while the Japanese Government, traditionally stood for non-intervention in China's internal dissensions and neutrality in her factional strife, nevertheless Japan is prepared to extend political, economic, military, and any other aid to any individuals or groups sufficient in calibre to assume full responsibility for a unified China.

Secondly, respecting the military problems in the Far East, Japan desires China will pledge not to appeal to the League and even withdraw from the League, also replace European and American military advisers by Japanese.

Thirdly, Japan considers the formation of Japan and Chinese puppet regime bloc imperative, to which end she is prepared to accord China extensive financial aid.

Fourthly, if China shows sufficient sincerity in all points, Japan is prepared to make the North China truce pact a permanent treaty and establish a permanent neutral zone between China and the puppet regime.—Reuter.

SIR CECIL CLEMENTI'S ARGUMENTS

Unsuitability Of Peking As Legation Seat

London, January 29. The "Times" gives prominence to an article by Sir Cecil Clementi arguing the unsuitability of Peking as a seat of the British Legation.

It says that Europeans find it hard to understand how far Peking is outside the stream of Chinese life. History shows it was the capital of four foreign dynasties but never a Chinese dynasty except when the Ming Emperors found it necessary to supervise the defences of the Great Wall against northern invaders.

Situated on the extreme north-east, it is easily vulnerable and Peking will never be chosen by the Chinese as a capital of United China. Now it is reduced to the level of a prefectural town. Peking is not a suitable station for diplomatic envoys to China.

Admitting that the exact form of the Chinese constitution is still uncertain Sir Cecil Clementi urges the British Legation to be temporarily accommodated in Shanghai so as to be within easy reach of Nanking and able to maintain friendly relations with the de facto rulers in China and in close touch with British interests solely centred in the peaceful trade.—Reuter.

FRENCH VISIT TO LONDON

Flandin Talks With Pressmen

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, Jan. 28. Among the preparations now being made with a view to facilitate the forthcoming conversations in London between M. Flandin and M. Laval and the British Government, was a further interview between M. Laval and the British Ambassador to France, Sir George Clerk.

Addressing newspaper correspondents later in the day, M. Flandin stressed that the visit to London was of a purely informative nature, stating no negotiations, still less a conference, would be held, the object of the journey being "merely a friendly meeting" between the statesmen of both countries with the object of discussing the present situation as well as the possible solution of the pending problems. Least of all could any definite decisions be expected, London being nothing but the starting point for large scale diplomatic action to be initiated by France and Great Britain. The security and guarantees proposed by Great Britain do not appear up till now to be viewed as adequate in political circles here although it is understood that the British Government would regard the passage of the demilitarised Rhineland zone by German planes making air raids as falling within the scope of the Locarno treaty.

The British views on the return of Germany to the League of Nations, entailing the abandonment of the military clauses in the Versailles Treaty, are therefore considered somewhat premature and efforts are being made to find a new formula asking Germany to take her place again in Geneva.—Transocean Kuo Min.

LABOUR OFFICE DIFFICULTY

No Seats For New Members

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, January 29, 4.30 p.m.)

Geneva, January 29. The Governing body of the International Labour Office which is meeting on Tuesday is confronted by an awkward dilemma caused by the recent entry of the United States and the Soviet Union into the International Labour Organisation.

According to the Versailles treaty, eight of the most important industrial countries are given permanent seats in the labour office's governing body, these countries being at present Belgium, Canada, France, Germany, Great Britain, India, Italy and Japan. Since the United States and the Soviet Union are undoubtedly entitled to permanent seats, since moreover it is not to be expected that two of the present eight permanent members will voluntarily vacate their seats and since Japan, despite her withdrawal from the League, retained membership in the Labour office and Germany's seat to be held open pending her expected return to Geneva, there appears to be no way out of the difficulty except by forcing two of the present members out by virtue of the majority vote. The increase of permanent seats could only be brought about by laborious procedure taking several years. Under these circumstances, the Labour Office has entrusted a Committee of experts with the task of drawing up a report establishing the principles for determining the relative industrial importance of the various states under which two present members would be automatically deprived of their seats. The report will be discussed during the forthcoming session but it is considered extremely doubtful that an agreement will be reached so that the final decision may have to be left to the League Council.

Another difficulty yet to be settled is how the Soviet Union will meet the requirements that every member of the Labour Office

GOLD VALUE OF DOLLAR

French Confidence In Stability

Paris, Jan. 28.

The abatement of the bullish wave on the foreign exchanges regarding the possible revaluation of the dollar is arousing widespread interest.

In the opinion of market experts the fact that the Bank of France has been selling dollars in large amounts and are apparently willing to continue this policy, is taken as a sign of confidence on the part of the French authorities in the stability of the gold value of the dollar.

The Bank of France, it is pointed out, would be reluctant to part with a large portion of its dollar holdings at the present time if there were any likelihood of the dollar being restored to its old parity.—Reuter.

COUNSEL ATTEMPTS TO TRAP HAUPTMANN

Merciless Attack In Cross-Examination

Flemington, Jan. 28.

At the afternoon session of the trial of Hauptmann for the murder and kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby, Attorney-General Wilentz, counsel for the prosecution, continued to bait Hauptmann in an attempt to trap him by quick questions.

There was a scene when counsel accused the prisoner of lying, the latter angrily shouting "You lied to me in this court."

Hauptmann later admitted that he had not told the truth when he wrote Fisch's relatives that he had loaned Fisch $5,500.

Hauptmann "wilted" under the fire of questions, his brow shining with perspiration and hands trembling. Before the end he was desperately tired and groped hesitated and floundered as Attorney Wilentz mercilessly pilled him with questions in regard to his relations with Fisch.

The grilling cross-examination by Attorney Wilentz provided a fresh sensation when counsel revealed that Hauptmann's notebook contained drawings of the window and ladder, but accused denied that he had made the damaging entries.

In answer to another question Hauptmann said that he did not tell his wife that he had found $14,000 in gold notes (ransom notes). He retorted "why should I make her excited?"

SOVIET ARMY STRENGTH

Fourfold Increase In Four Years

Moscow, Jan. 28.

During the past four years the Soviet army has increased its mechanised army fourfold, declared the President, M. Molotov, when addressing the All-Union Congress of the Soviets here to-day.

The army, he said, now possessed larger numbers of artillery, tanks and aeroplanes, together with better defensive fortifications in the East.

He admitted that the first five-year plan was incompletely fulfilled owing to the unforeseen increases in defence expenditure.

Some of the delegates trekked hundreds of miles over snow and ice with reindeer and dog-sledges to attend the Congress, at which 2,000 delegates cheered Stalin uninterruptedly for five minutes.—Reuter.

WAR WITH JAPAN

Moscow, Jan. 29.

Molotov declared we must reckon that the immediate danger of war with the Soviet has been increased. One must not forget that a new governing party exists in Europe which openly proclaimed the seizure of the territories of the Soviets as its historical task.

One cannot close one's eyes to the changes which occurred in Soviet-German relations with the advent of the Nazis.

Referring to Hitler's book "Mein Kampf," Molotov asked is Hitler's statement still valid regarding the necessity for adopting territorial conquests in Eastern Europe, also when Nazis refer to new lands in Europe do they contemplate Russia and border states?

Molotov continued that "apparently this statement is still valid because it is only in the light of such propositions, that many things in Russo-German relations become intelligible besides the German attitude towards the Eastern Pact."

He concluded that we must draw conclusions for ourselves.—Reuter.

ADDRESS BY MOLOTOV

Soviet Affairs Reviewed

[Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, January 29, 4.30 p.m.)

Moscow, Jan. 29. In the course of his address before the seventh Soviet congress, Molotov, the president of the Council People's Commissaries, dealt at length with the economic and domestic issues pertaining to the large credits the Government appropriated for the reconstruction of industry. He referred to certain measures adopted for the industrialisation of the Far East which, because of its wealth and natural resources, has a promising future and which will be of particular importance both in political and economic respects.

Molotov pointed out the strides made by the heavy industry, mentioning also the deficiency still existing in the food supply. Molotov also pointed out the new railway tracks under construction in Siberia, emphasising the great importance of the new rail line between Baikal and Amur.

CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM. Dealing with the domestic issue, Molotov urged the need of constitutional reform. He surveyed the decline of the so-called civic element within the Soviet Union and referred to the opposition currents which threatened to endanger the Communist doctrine. It is true, he said, that the revolutionaries again and again are busy turning the wheel round the other way as the shots fired at Kirov had proved. We will under Stalin's leadership most ruthlessly wage war on these adversaries of our dictatorship and ruthlessly exterminate the Zinovieff and Trotsky groups who still dream of the restoration of capitalism. We will also exterminate civic elements and originate a new order of society that will form the basis for socialism. Our constitution is obsolete and must be framed anew in order to safeguard the maintenance of the Communist dictatorship.—Transocean Kuo Min.

HATS OFF TO THESE SPORTSMEN

Heroes In An Epic Year

(From a Correspondent)

What sporting memories 1934 holds for us! Practically from the first day our sportsmen kept the motherland right "in the news." And when they failed to deliver the "goods" up popped equine friends—Golden Miller, Colombo and Windsor Lad in particular—to perform deeds that can never be erased from history.

Nineteen-thirty-four is also memorable for the fact that our women athletes made an even stronger challenge to man's supremacy at outdoor sports.

British Fluck Did The Trick To Henry Cotton, F. J. Perry and those cricketers who represented England against Australia in the Test series I offer congratulations.

Henry Cotton carried off the premier prize in the golf world in winning the British open championship at Sandwich in June. It was a heroic effort—and America, which hates to cry second best to anybody in anything, raised hats to him.

Cotton's amazing start in the qualifying rounds and the first two heats of the championship proper were simply astounding—66, 75, 67, 65! And then, with 72 and 79, he equalled a record held by Gene Sarazen in returning 283 for 72 holes.

For years Cotton had set his heart on that title. For years obstacles and disappointments formed big barriers. Year 1934 was his peak year—a triumph of skill allied with no end of British pluck.

Defying The World Also it was just "that something extra others have not got" that stamped F. J. Perry as the world's number 1 tennis player when he won the Wimbledon singles title by beating the Australian, Jack Crawford, a week after Cotton's triumph.

Not since 1909 had England possessed a man who could call himself British tennis champion, and say so in direct defiance of the talent collected from the four corners of the earth.

Perry starts on another job of work to-morrow. He wants to retain his triple crown with success in the Australian singles championships.

America has already seen Perry—and bade him good-bye with their title. Since then defeats have been marked here and there on his Australian record. These setbacks have not given Perry loss of sleep so why should they us? Here's luck, Fred!

A word for Miss Dorothy Round. She is also touring Australia. She also won the women's singles at Wimbledon, 1934, and set a great example for our women.

There was a "cloud" on the cricket horizon in the summer. It was caused in the tussle for the Ashes, but who can deny that our players came out of it all with their sportsmanship as high as ever.

This is not the time to say what I think of the M.C.C. or the Australians. I prefer to praise those men who, without the aid of some of England's best cricketers, tackled a team whose forces, all round, were definitely superior to ours.

From the first Test at Nottingham to the last match at the Oval there was definitely an undercurrent working. Our men battled against odds and went down with flying colours.

Hats Off To Leyland If there was one man who deserved praise more than any other it was Leyland, of Yorkshire. It was he who scored three of the five centuries that went to England's credit in the series.

I saw him make 109 at Lord's, 153 at Manchester and 110 at the Oval. Each innings was a bulldog effort that could have come only from the bat of such a player as this Yorkshireman.

That was not the only thing that stamped Leyland as a "getter" of the first water. In the field he was always as sharp as a razor, and though he made mistakes they were excused because, so it seemed to me, he was trying to set an example to his somewhat disillusioned colleagues.

Off the field Leyland could not be other than a lively character. I met him several times, and his frankness simply had to be admired. Leyland enjoyed a benefit last season. He thoroughly earned it for he was cricket's brightest star.

It is exceedingly pleasant to turn to the subject of horse-racing—the sport of kings, which is so admirably controlled by that almost Utopian body, the Jockey Club.

Frank Butters took most of the limelight in this sport. He trained horses to win the astonishing sum of £288,844.

This feat was not a record by any means—Joe Lawson won about £293,000 a couple of seasons or so ago—but it serves to remind us that a good man cannot be kept down. It wasn't so very long ago that Butters thought he was up against it!

In the jockey line G. Richards naturally takes pride of place, but special mention must be made of Fred Fox, who at the age of forty-seven, passed the 100 winners mark for the first time in his career.

From Obscurity To Stardom We may admire men and their methods, but the horse undoubtedly captures our innermost feelings. Such great performers as Golden Miller, Colombo and Windsor Lad did this many times from March to November.

Windsor Lad came almost from obscurity to stardom in a day. That day was June 6 at Epsom when, with C. Smirke on its back, the Derby was won in a time which equalled record.

Even then some people doubted whether Windsor Lad was as great a horse as Colombo. Another smashing win in the St. Leger—the time record for this race was also equalled—must, however, set all doubts at rest.

Made Biggest Hit In Boxing Jock McAvoy, in my opinion, made the biggest hit in boxing. Here is a man who I might honestly say is a cut above the average pugilist.

McAvoy, a Manchester product, has the tact and capability to run three establishments—riding school, hostelry and gymnasium—besides dabbling in the fight game with no end of success.

Quite recently McAvoy laid flat on his back a world's middle-weight title challenger, Kid Tunero, and the clear-cut manner in which McAvoy succeeded suggests that at last we have a boxer who could show America a thing or two about the boxer-fighter business.

This Goes For Harvey Too many times have I stressed McAvoy's claim to a championship match with Marcel Thil, the Frenchman, who is strong and capable enough to pit his title against all comers but evidently prefers to wrap it in cotton-wool.

Those who have met McAvoy once are not anxious to fight him again—and this even goes for Len Harvey, who will tackle boxers two and three stone heavier than himself. A testimonial for Jock.

Of Jack Petersen, I can only say he is one of the best prospects we have had for years. So far he has not made the necessary improvement to class him as anything except good, which opinion, I know, will not be shared by his admirers in Wales, who form the main proportion of his "fans."

Mr. Jobey Tops The Soccer Bill On Mr. George Jobey, the Derby County manager, must fall my star for Association football. Britain has no really outstanding newcomers in the playing ranks, and our accepted "giants" have not done any "slaying" to write home about.

Mr. Jobey has acted courageously and wise in guiding Derby County this season. He was criticised rather severely in certain quarters when he secured Stockill from Arsenal. People said that if this youth could not succeed at Highbury he could not triumph anywhere else. Mr. Jobey proved correct.

Later Mr. Jobey shocked the Soccer world by allowing England's right full back, Cooper, to go to Liverpool. Again criticism. And again Mr. Jobey proved the wiser man.

Then came the final bombshell following injury to Bowers, England and Derby's centre forward. Mr. Jobey obtained the signature of Hughie Gallacher, of Chelsea. We thought we knew Gallacher. Mr. Jobey knew him better—and Derby promise to soar to great deeds.

Thank you, Mr. Jobey, for the brightest feature in Soccer this season—the campaign which pro-

WEST INDIES WIN

M.C.C. Collapses In Second Test

Port of Spain, Jan. 28. West Indies won the Second Test Match to-day by 217 runs in a thrilling finish with only half a minute left for play, placing themselves on level terms with the M.C.C.

Headley was the hero of the home team as he thoroughly mastered the bowling with subdued play until he got in front of a straight one from Smith. His score of 93 included eight fours.

With the exception of Christiani, all the batsmen made valuable contributions to the total of 280 for 6 wickets at lunch time when a declaration was made, leaving the M.C.C. to make 325 runs to win.

After the dismissal of Townsend who scored 36, the English players suffered a complete collapse. Iddon, the last man in, being caught before he had scored a run with 30 seconds left for the official close of the four-day encounter.

Owen-Smith—Rugby Genius For the outstanding Rugby player of 1934 I plump without hesitation for Owen-Smith—Rugby International, Test cricketer, boxer—in fact, one of the finest all-round athletes ever seen at Oxford.

No one who had the good fortune to witness his wonderful display in the 1933 Varsity match, when he alone stood between Cambridge and victory, could doubt that here was an outstanding genius.

Whenever he was on the field of play—even when he had nothing to do—one's eye instinctively wandered towards him, drawn by the magnetism of his personality. That Calcutta Cup Match Thrill

He had his failings—like all geniuses. At times he was too daring; he would run when perhaps it would have been better to kick.

But his superb nerve and coolness under pressure and his deceptive but reassuring nonchalance outshone all these faults. He anyway would never let his side down.

I for one, shall never forget his headlong crash into J. Beattie in the Calcutta Cup match at Twickenham, when that stalwart forward went charging for the line—and actually Beattie came off second best in a thrilling tackle, one of the great moments of the match.

A personality if ever there was one and a ball-game genius. No wonder the selectors are perturbed about him not playing.

THE CYCLING CLUB

Week-End Activities

An enjoyable evening was spent on Saturday last when the Hong Kong Cycling Club were "At Home" to a team from H.M.S. "Tamar" in a friendly billiards and snooker encounter.

The majority of the games were evenly contested, but the aggregate gave the cyclists a comfortable win of 164 points. Scores were as follows:—

During the evening a challenge match was played off between "Wheeler" Collinson and Mr. R. Jordan, St. Patrick's Club. The Cycling Club representative's form was irresistible throughout the evening, and he won the game by 6 points.

A cricket match has been arranged for Thursday, February 1, on the Happy Valley Ground, commencing at 2 p.m. The cyclists will meet the Tamar's bluejackets on this occasion.

Indifferent weather during the week-end failed to spoil Sunday's run—an afternoon spin only—on which a complete journey around the Kowloon Circuit of 564 miles was made. Starting at 3 p.m. the riders reached Fanling via Tai Po after averaging almost "evens" against a strong wind. Steady riding after a short halt brought the cyclists to Castle Peak at 5.30 p.m. and tea was enjoyed before resuming the trip at 6.15 p.m. Only a few spots of rain fell throughout the whole ride and Kowloon was eventually reached at 7.30 p.m.

MARATHON ON SKIS

Red Army Officers On 5 Month Race

Six commanders of the Red Army have started a long-distance race on foot and on skis from Bockkarevo (Far Eastern Region) to Moscow, a distance of 7,807 kilometres, which they are to cover in five months.

The first stage of the march to Irkutsk (2,704 kilometres) will be made on foot, and the distance from Irkutsk to Moscow on skis. The finish of the race will take place in Moscow on Feb. 23 (the Red Army Day).

In the past two years the Red Army fighters have made a number of record long-distance marches. Several commanders of the Far Eastern Army covered on skis a distance of 4,000 kilometres from Atchinsk to Moscow. Last year, Red Army commanders accomplished the ski run of 4,300 kilometres, from Irkutsk to Moscow, the longest ever made not only in the Soviet Union, but in the whole world.

HOME FOOTBALL RESULTS

Full Hong Kong Team Selected

Following a trial at Sookunpoo yesterday between a team which included nine of the ladies selected to represent Hong Kong in the forthcoming Interport with Shanghai, and "The Rest" the two final places were awarded.

The selectors have included Miss I. Woolley and Miss O. Brown in the team.

Yesterday's Trial

In yesterday's match "The Rest" lost by 3 goals to 1. Mrs. Harrop scored the first goal for "The Rest" following a pass from Miss Ferguson.

The Interport side tried hard to equalise and thanks to a nice bit of work by Miss M. Smith, Miss M. Woolley equalised. At the interval the score was level.

The Interport side had much the better of the argument in the second half and scored twice, one through Miss M. Smith, who receiving a nice centre from Miss Knill, made no mistake while the next goal came from Miss M. Woolley, following a "melee" in front of the goal.

In addition to Miss I. Woolley and Miss O. Brown, the following will represent Hong Kong:—Mrs. R. Rose (St. Andrew's Club); Miss E. M. Gray (Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club); Miss B. M. Pope (Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club); Miss J. Wong (St. Andrew's Club); Miss M. L. W. Bryson (Central British Association); Miss H. Knill (Central British School); Miss M. NEW CO-OPERATIVE SHIPPING SOCIETY

State And Private Owned Companies Combine

Nanking, January 23.

A set of measures introducing the co-operative principle in the mercantile shipping industry, submitted by the Chinese Shipping Co-operative Planning Committee, has been approved by the Ministry of Communications.

According to these measures, a Shipping Co-operative Society is to be created, with all Chinese shipping companies, both state and private owned, as members.

The ships and warehouses of the members are to be at the disposal of the Society, for the use of which definite compensation will be paid.

The Society will seek Government facilities, as required, in operating the ships on their regular routes.

Members of the Society are required to observe the resolutions adopted, and contribute to its maintenance.

The Society will have a Board of Directors, consisting of 11 persons, five of whom will represent the China Merchants Steam Navigation Company (State-owned) and six will represent the various private companies.

Three offices are to be established by the Society to take charge of shipping (1) along the Yangtze, (2) along the coast, and (3) in the inland rivers.

Each shipping office shall have a committee, directly responsible to the Board of Directors.

The term of office of members of the Board of Directors is fixed at three years. Members are eligible for a second term. They will receive no salary, but will be given travelling allowances.

The Board of Directors will have a Standing Committee of Two, who will preside at Board meetings alternately.

Resolutions of the Board must be passed by a two-thirds majority; the quorum being fixed at more than half the total membership.

A plenary meeting of the Board must be held once each year. In case of necessity, extraordinary meetings may be convened.

The compensation to be paid by the Society to members for charter of their ships or lease of their warehouses are to be determined by experts.

Surplus or deficit of the Society is to be apportioned among the members according to the relative value of their ship holdings.

In case a member-company of the Society wishes to sell its ships, first option must be given to the Society.

In case it is found desirable to purchase new ships or erect new warehouses, the purchase or construction should be carried out by the Society and the ships purchased or the warehouses constructed will be regarded as the joint property of the members.

The Society may engage in other businesses, such as banking and international shipping.—Kuo Min.

ROYAL VISIT TO MUNICH

First Since 1913

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Jan. 12.

The visit of the Duke and Duchess of Kent to Munich to stay with the Duchess's sister, Countess Törring (formerly Princess Elizabeth of Greece) and her husband is the first visit to Germany of a member of the Royal family since the war.

The last Royal visit was in May, 1913, when the King and Queen attended the wedding of Prince Ernest Augustus of Cumberland and Princess Victoria Luise of Prussia.

The wedding was celebrated in the Chapel Royal of the Palace in Berlin.

The Queen was escorted up the aisle by the Tsar, and the King, "in the white and green uniform of his Prussian Cuirassier Regiment," and "wearing across his chest the broad orange ribbon of the Black Eagle," escorted the Crown Princess.

Born in the Purple
Earlier in the day the King had inspected another regiment of which he was colonel, the 1st Dragoon Guards.

Among those taking part in the wedding ceremony were "two diminutive figures in white sailor costumes" who "walked into the midst of the splendid assembly with the assurance and ease of those born in the purple."

They were the Crown Prince's eldest sons, one of whom, Prince Louis-Ferdinand, is now the future head of the ex-Kaiser's family. He works in Ford's at Detroit. Eighteen months ago he was received by the Prince of Wales.

Out of Their Depth
Count and Countess Törring's wedding a year ago was one of the greatest social events in Germany for years.

The Count, who is rich, 34, and an accomplished linguist, belongs to one of the oldest Bavarian families, and has royal blood in his veins.

The wedding was a page out of Germany's past. It was attended by ex-Royalties and ex-Princely and Grand Ducal families in previous profusion. Ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria led the procession with the ex-German Crown Princess on his arm.

The general conversation was carried on in French with occasional English. As a result, the high Nazi functionaries, who attended the wedding, found themselves relegated to the background.

COLD SNAP IN CANTON

Sunless For Almost A Week

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Jan. 29.
The sun shines again to-day on Canton after a disappearance for almost a week and raises the temperature to 52 degrees Fahrenheit as contrasted with the bitterly cold weather during the past two days. The lowest temperature was on Sunday night when the mercury dropped to 42 degrees Fahrenheit in the early hours.

Poor people in Canton are badly affected by the cold snap. Many destitute people still sleep in the side-walks, as the municipal hostels at the North and South foot of the Pearl River Bridge are unable to hold so many homeless people. Many charitable institutions are also full to the limit.

Fish sellers in the surrounding districts are hard hit by the cold spell. They raise fish in the ponds, but during the cold weather over the week-end many fish died. Hence they cannot sell them. Planters of vegetables in the outskirts of the city are also hit by the cold weather, because their vegetables do not grow so well under such extreme weather.

Rich people have occasion to wear fur coats, and their houses are kept cheerful with a good fire. However, many shops and government offices have no heating apparatus, and employees have to wear overcoats while at work.

TOWN RETAKEN BY TROOPS

Communists Flee To Other Points

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Jan. 29.
Kweichow troops have retaken Tung Tzu from the Communists who have escaped to Chih Shui and points along Southern Szechuen. Tung Tzu is an important town in Northern Kweichow and was well fortified by the Reds.

As Tung Tzu is given up by the Reds, Kweichow is practically clear of Communists except some remnants. At the orders of the Military Affairs Commission, General Wang Chia Lieh, Chairman of the Kweichow Provincial Government, has gone to Tsun Yi in connection with the re-occupation of towns evacuated by the Red hordes. General Wang, though Commander-in-Chief of the Twenty-Fifth Kweichow Army, has only three divisions, one of which under Lieut-General Hou Chih Tan is disarmed in Szechuen.

The other two divisions are sent to Northern Kweichow. Kweichow, the provincial capital, is garrisoned by two Nanking divisions under the command of General Hsueh Yoh. All the provincial troops are away from the capital. It is said that General Hsueh Yoh's divisions will be shortly sent to Szechuen to join in the campaign against the Reds.

There have been consistent reports that the Kweichow Provincial Government will be re-organized in accordance with the plan of the Central Government, but such reports are not confirmed. One surprising fact is that the two local representatives of General Wang Chia Lieh have left here for Kwangsi to interview General Bai Hsueh Hsi, Second-in-Command of Kwangsi forces.

Kwangtung troops for Kweichow to assist in suppressing the Reds are still in Liu Chow, Kwangsi. Since the Reds are no longer in that province, the Kwangtung units may have to change their plan or proceed to other directions.

INDEPENDENCE OF BANKS

Industry And Confidence

Sir John Simon, speaking at Bolton, referred to Sir Stafford Cripps' warning that if the Labour Party comes into power there will at once be "a first-rate financial crisis." That would mean a collapse of confidence.

Yet confidence was the thing on which trade depended, and, therefore, on which wages and employment depended. If one took the Opposition at their word and examined their programme, what Sir Stafford Cripps said was quite true.

Nothing was easier, for example, than to talk about the nationalization of banks, but such a programme must bring about an instant collapse of confidence and credit. The most important function of the banks was to give credit, and that was the chief source of the adaptability and elasticity of industry. If that function were performed well there was a rapid adjustment to technical and market changes, and the full use of the community's resources. Competition among banks made them eager to grant credits in all proper cases, but under nationalization there would be the danger of a monopoly of credit and of the misuse or denial of opportunities.

Any political authority especially in a democratic State, had difficulties in maintaining a system of sound banking. A nationalized banking system might be workable under a dictatorship, but it threatened grave political evils in a Parliamentary system. Even as regards the Central Bank a large measure of independence was necessary. Every inquiry in every country since the war had reported in favour of preserving the independence of the Central Bank in order that it might perform its functions properly by considering the needs of commerce, and not of temporary political expediency. It was the only way to safeguard Governments from the temptation of meeting their financial difficulties by currency juggling and credit inflation.

It was a curious phenomenon that at a time when British banking had proved most clearly its superiority over the systems of other countries the Socialists should loudly demand some fundamental change. Stability and public confidence were all against it. No wonder some of the astute managers of the Labour Opposition were against Sir Stafford Cripps' letting the crisis out of the bag, but it was in the last nevertheless, and it would be their fault if it was allowed to emerge.

SHIPBUILDING
IN JAPANProsperous Year
Ahead

Tokyo, Jan. 14.

Japan's shipbuilding industry is looking forward to a prosperous year. Total tonnage to be launched will be the largest since the great boom year following the world war.

It is definitely arranged that eleven ocean-going vessels of a total gross tonnage of 55,000 will be launched and completely equipped. These are being built under government subsidy with a view to improving the speed and other seaworthy characteristics of Japan's ocean shipping.

The Japanese subsidy law provided for the construction of some 200,000 tons of new vessels within the three years ending March, 1935, replacing 400,000 tons of old tonnage scrapped.

Out of this construction, seven vessels totalling 40,000 tons were launched during 1933, and thirteen vessels totalling 98,000 in 1934. Hence the balance must be completed during the present year.

Meanwhile, a second subsidy totalling ¥1,800,000 is to be authorized by the present session of the Diet, available for a further 50,000 gross tons of new construction.

Many shipping firms are trying to take advantage of this appropriation, and some of them have already published their building programmes on the basis of the new subsidy.

BERLIN BOURSE

Berlin, Jan. 28.

The upward movement in prices evidenced last week made further progress on Monday's sharemarket which was characterized by a decidedly firm tone. Attention in the fixed interest securities market was naturally centred on those affected by the conversion operation, a relatively small quantity of which, however, was offered for sale. Call Money unchanged at 3 per cent.

GERMAN-DENMARK TRADE AGREEMENT

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, Jan. 28.

The negotiations which have been going on for some weeks past between Germany and Denmark have led to the conclusion of a new trade agreement based in its principal provisions on the commercial agreement of March 1, 1934 which, according to a semi-official statement issued here on Monday, proved completely satisfactory and has therefore been prolonged with certain alterations till the end of 1935.

The existing agreement between the banks of issue of both countries has likewise been extended with some additions.

German imports from Denmark consist chiefly of agricultural products while Denmark imports almost exclusively industrial products from Germany.

Two other ships which will be employed for Shanghai and the South Seas Islands.

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha plans to build three 10,000-ton motorships: the Kawasaki Steamship company one 9,000-ton cargo vessel; and the Kokusai Kaisha one 9,000-ton motor cargo vessel. Undoubtedly, some of these vessels will be laid down during the year.

Next autumn, the Navy will award building contracts for its replenishment programme appropriations for the 1935-36 financial year. The contracts will total a very large sum—sufficient to keep the greater part of Japan's shipbuilding industry very busy for a long time to come.
